GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION EFFECTED—MEETING TO BE CALLED TO MAKE IT PERMANENT.

At the close of Col. Sidney Suggs' stirring address yesterday afternoon, M. F. Dew was introduced by Otis Weaver and the matter of organizing a good roads association for Pontotoc county was taken up. A number sufficient to secure a charter at once volunteered, and one will be applied for immediately.

In order to have a committee that could be easily convened and also centrally located so that the farmers of the county might be easily reached, and consulted about the time for calling a general meeting for the perfection of a permanent organization it was thought best to select the temporary committee from Ada and vicinity. At that time different officers will be chosen and committees appointed.

Following is a list of the temporary committee and members:

Committee—P. A. Norris, chairman; C. S. Wood, secretary; Tom Hope, M. F. Dew, Frank Huddleston, R. W. Simpson, M. W. Ligon, Byron Norrell, R. E. Blanks.

GREATEST DAY IN HISTORY OF ADA

Over 5,000 People In Attendance—Farm Product, Live Stock and Other Exhibits Were of the Very Best—Program For the Day Carried Out In Detail.

Two of the most profitable features of Trades Day were the addresses of Col. Sidney Suggs, the state highway commissioner, on the subject of good roads, and one by R. S. White, agricultural and horticultural agent for the Frisco railroad.

About 2 o'clock a great crowd gathered around the temporary platform that had been erected at the corner of Main and Broadway, on the east side of I. Harris' store, and J. W. Davis delivered a short address of welcome to the farmers. He congratulated them on the cordial feeling that had always existed between them and the business men of the town, a relation that had served to make Ada the third largest cotton market from wagons in Oklahoma and aided in making it the second largest shipping point in the state. His speech was very appropriate for the occasion and he received many compliments on it afterwards.

Otis Weaver then introduced Col. Suggs, who made a telling address on his pet subject of good roads. The News will reproduce this speech some time this week, for it contained some valuable information that should be in the hands of the people. At the conclusion of his talk, a temporary organization was formed, the details of which are to be found in another column of this paper.

Mr. White was then introduced but as some confusion was caused by a part of the crowd leaving for the ball grounds, it was thought best to adjourn his meeting to the city hall. Arriving there he told a few things about the work being done by his department and the wonderful resources of this section. At the conclusion of his talk, he invited his hearers to visit his special exhibit car on the side track, and a large number availed themselves of the opportunity to see just what can be raised along the Frisco lines. Some exhibits from Ada were placed in the car to be taken along with the ones already on hand.

As stated yesterday the exhibits of Pontotoc county products were something to be proud of. They gave some idea of what could be done in this county in the way of a fair if one is ever launched—which likely will be next year.

Of course the exhibit of the manual training department of the normal was not in competition, but it attracted a great deal of attention, and Prof. Cox gave an exhibition of the actual operation of a turning lathe. An object of interest was a very artistic chair, a specimen of Swedish carving and pyrography turned out by Miss Helen Turner the art teacher of the normal.

In the afternoon just before the beginning of the ball game, the ladies races on the program of sporting events, were pulled off on East Main street near the normal. Miss Davenport of Atoka, who is attending the normal was the winner in both of these, her opponents being Misses Roddie and Lucas.

Two features of the morning parade overtook yesterday were the fine horses that were on exhibition and some teams belonging to Jim Couch.

WILL COMPEL CITIZENS TO BUILD SIDEWALKS

The council made a new record last evening by completing its work and adjourning shortly after 10 o'clock. A good share of the time was taken up with the discussion of a bill presented by the street commissioner, which the council did not think was as fully itemized as it should be, although there was considerable variance of opinion as to the extent of the details to be required.

It was reported that the city park was growing up in weeds again and that the crab grass was about to choke out the bermuda. The question was referred to the park committee with power to act.

Probably the most important matter considered was that of compelling citizens to put down sidewalks when ordered to do so.

Some of the councilmen objected to the slowness with which many have complied with previous orders, and the city attorney was ordered to take steps at once to compel action, and if the present ordinance is inadequate, it was the sense of the council that a new one be drawn that would be effective.

The weed question was discussed and the chief ordered to go after citizens who permit weeds to grow in front of their premises.

B. W. Fearis and Ed Oldham, prominent business men of Waxahachie, Texas, arrived this morning on a business trip.

TRAGEDY AT ROFF MONDAY EVENING

DUEL BETWEEN OSCAR COLLINS AND PATE BEAUCHAMP RESULTS FATALLY.

COLLINS INSTANTLY KILLED

Beauchamp May Die—Sx Shooter and Shotgun Were the Weapons Used.

About 7 o'clock yesterday evening a tragedy occurred at Roff that resulted in the death of Oscar Collins and will probably also end in the death of Pate Beauchamp.

From the best information obtainable, it appears that the two men, who until a week ago had been the best of friends, had some words over the matter of running the fire team through the streets at a high speed. Ed Bunyard was the driver at that time, and Collins, who was both city marshal and deputy sheriff, thought the run was made for the purpose of irritating him. Bunyard was discharged and Beauchamp, who had been Collins deputy, was put in his place. He was guilty of the same offense, it is said, and Collins considered that it was a scheme to run matters over him.

Yesterday while somewhat under the influence of liquor, he renewed the trouble with Beauchamp and a fight followed, in which Collins was knocked or thrown down. Beauchamp, it is said, grabbed him by the hair and hammered his head against the floor a few times. When they were finally separated, Collins went away swearing that no man could treat him in that manner and live. Everett Deacon took him home and he tried to get his gun but his wife and Deacon would not let him have it. He then went to Jones' hardware store and securing a shotgun, went back to the store of the Brass Hardware Co., where Beauchamp was employed. As he approached the door Beauchamp shot him twice with a pistol. Collins went off a few feet and sat down a moment. Then telling the crowd that he was a dead man anyway, he swore he would kill Beauchamp before he died. He again approached the door and fired a load of shot into his opponent's abdomen, inflicting a wound from which he chanced before he died. He again approached Beauchamp and fired twice more and Collins fell dead.

All four shots took effect. A bullet passed through each breast, one through his arm, and the other struck him in the region of the stomach, although it was rather glancing.

Collins is survived by a wife and child. Beauchamp is a single man. Collins was ordinarily a peaceable man, although inclined to be quarrelsome when drinking. He was a man who feared nothing, and of late had done some good work in enforcing the law. At the last city election he led the ticket.

Both men were popular with the entire citizenship of Roff and Sheriff Mitchell states that the tragedy is deeply regretted by all.

When news of the trouble reached Ada Sheriff Mitchell, Deputy R. E. Duncan and County Attorney Wimbish at once left for Roff, returning this morning.

A CAUSE FOR CONGRATULATION.

Although the second largest crowd ever assembled in Ada was on the streets all day yesterday, there was not the slightest suggestion of disorder. Not a case of drunkenness have we been able to hear of and not an arrest was made. It is seldom that a crowd of that size is gathered together anywhere without some fellow trying to put on a show and draw a little attention to himself, but if there were any such in Ada yesterday, they evidently realized that horse play would not be tolerated for a moment and conducted themselves accordingly. It is a record of which the entire citizenship of Pontotoc county should be proud.

THE NEWS THANKS YOU.

The News desires to thank Orville Snead and Sherwood Hill for their assistance in getting together the list of prize winners on Trades Day. Mr.
Hill rustled the livestock list and Mr. Snead the rest of the list. A number of others also granted favors for which we are grateful, but there are so many of these that it is impossible to remember them all.

During the past two days the editor of the News has had his hands full in trying to keep track of everything, and must confess that he has fallen short of what the occasion merited. If there are any features you are not satisfied with, kindly remember that the editor made an honest effort and intended to slight no one.

Wanted His Trousers Re-tailed.

The News is informed that a few days ago F. D. Hill purchased a pair of trousers from E. W. Hardin. They did not measure up to Mr. Hill's expectations, it seems, for a little later the whole western hemisphere of the garment gave way and badly in need of repairs. The unlucky purchaser went to Mr. Hardin with the question:

"Do you re-tail pants?"

Thinking he was on trail of another sale, Mr. Hardin rubbed his hands in fond anticipation and assured him that he was simply an expert when it came to retailing any kind of goods.

"Then please re-tail these pants," requested Mr. Hill, as he produced the ripped specimen of the tailor's art.

Pheasants Doing Well.

Oklahoma City, July 18.—One of the best reports so far received by the state game warden's office from the recent distribution of pheasant eggs came from Mrs. J. O. Crawford, of Ada, wife of the assistant state fire marshal, who wrote that she received thirteen eggs, hatched out thirteen chicks and that at the age of three weeks they are all still alive and doing well.

GORE WOULD HAVE PAY- MENT MADE INDIANS

Washington, July 17.—Senator Gore today introduced a resolution providing that "the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized in his discretion to make pro rata payments from time to time to the individual members of the Chickasaw, Choctaw, Cherokee and Seminole tribes of Indians in Oklahoma, such payments to be made out of the respective tribal funds of said tribes which may be on hand at any time in the treasury of the United States, or in any other depository, which may be available for distribution, subject to the control and discretion of the secretary of the interior."

The Longest Bridge Span.

Spokane, Wash., July 18.—When the bridge to carry Monroe street across the Spokane river in the business district here is completed the latter part of October, the largest single span of concrete re-enforced in the world will be opened to traffic. The central span is 281 feet, or 12 inches longer than the bridge over the Rocky river, under construction at Cleveland, O., and 58 feet longer than the Wissahickon river structure at Philadelphia, which held the distinction of the longest span of its kind. The cost of the Spokane bridge will be about $550,000. In addition to the car tracks there is a team roadway and walks for pedestrians. A span of 285 feet has been adopted to carry the New York barge canal over the gorge near Medina, N.
Y., and the span of the proposed Hudson memorial bridge is to be 710 feet. With the exception of the Hudson bridge the other largest single span yet proposed is one of 328 feet to be built by the municipality of Rome. A bridge under construction in New Zealand will have a 320-foot span.

CENTER OF POPULATION

MOVES WESTWARD

Washington, July 17.—The center of population of the United States is four and one-fourth miles south of Unionville, Monroe county, Indiana, according to a census bureau announcement Monday. Since 1900, when it was six miles southeast of Columbus, Ind., it has moved thirty-one miles westward and seventieths of a mile northward.

The westward movement was more than twice that of the 1890-1900 decade. This acceleration of the westward movement is attributed by census officials principally to the growth of the Pacific and southwestern states.

The geographical center of the United States is in northern Kansas, so that the center of population, therefore, is about 550 miles east of the geographical center.

Break Jail at Altus.

Altus, Okla., July 18.—Three more prisoners made their escape from the county jail here, as they were being taken to do road work. Earl Brown, one of the three, was recently captured in Texas and brought back. The men got out as the guard was locking the door of the jail. All three were doing time for violating the prohibition law. Jail deliveries have become rather frequent, and Sheriff Bailey will hereafter take extra precautions against further surprises.

Boy Has Close Call in Runaway.

As J. W. Choate and family were driving home from Trades Day an accident occurred at the O. C. crossing near the cement plant that came near proving fatal to his twelve-year-old son, Marvin. As the wagon was crossing the railroad a single tree came loose and the wagon went racing to the bottom of the dump, tearing up a part of the fence, breaking the tongue of the wagon, and a wheel passing over the boy who was thrown out. Although very sore from the effects of the accident, the boy is not much the worse for his experience.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything.
In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its conse-

had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I. Harry Swift is spinning along in his auto, his thoughts dwelling in happy anticipation of a coming visit from his fiancée, Lucy Medders, a Quakeress, who nursed him when he was injured in an auto accident out in the country. His mind taken off of his surroundings by these pleasant thoughts he crashes into another auto containing a German count and a beautiful woman.
The woman's hat is ruined. Absent-mindedly Harry thrusts the remnants of the hat in his pocket and makes his escape.

CHAPTER II. Carolyn, Harry's sister, arrives to play hostess. Socrates Primmer, a distant relative of Lucy's, arrives with a hat intended as a gift to Lucy.
Harry is trailed to his home by the German count and the lady of the damaged hat.

to Harry with:

"She is positive that the hat was delivered here, and to make sure she says she will come herself. Now, that hat is here, evidently. And I must have it."

"Yes," the German belligerently added. "We must have it."

But Harry had by this time divined who the German was—he could be no one else than the dapper Count von Fitz, whose flirtatious escapades were discussed on all sides. And, this being Mrs. Blazes, and the General being worried because his wife had not yet come home, Harry could put two and two together and reason that the Count and the dashing Mrs. Blazes had gone for a jolly little ride through the park, which ride had been spoiled by the untoward accident which destroyed her hat.

"Why don't you go and get a hat—any kind of a hat?" he asked. "I'll be glad to pay for it, as I was partially at fault when your hat was ruined."

"Oh, sir," Mrs. Blazes answered, "I wouldn't dare to go home without that particular hat, or its exact duplicate.
My husband is very jealous. He would be sure to want to know where the original hat had gone—in fact, it is his favorite hat. Please, please give me the hat."

"But I tell you I haven't it. I'd give it to you in a minute if I had it."
"What a nonsense!" the Count cried.
Mrs. Blazes was about to say something, when a strange voice was heard outside.

"Right up here? Thank thee." It was the voice of Amos Medders.

"Great heavens!" Harry hissed.
"They've come. My future father-in-law, and my future fiancée!"

"Aha!" the Count said, malevolently. "Unless you gift us der hat ve will make some trouble."

"Please go!" Harry begged. "Please!
I haven't the hat. I'll get you a whole hat store, if you'll only go!"

But they were adamant. Mrs.
Blazes, nervous to desperation because she knew she simply could not go home without her hat, planked herself into a chair and announced that she would stay right there until he gave her her own hat.

An inspiration came to Harry. Taking Mrs. Blazes by the arm he said:

"I'll send out and get you the hat.
I'll get that milliner to rush another."

Carolyn Was a Jolly, Romping Girl.

duplicate for you. Here, hide in here for a while. You understand there'd be no end of talk if you were found here."

He rushed Mrs. Blazes to the door of his own room and pushed her in and slammed the door, then turned to the count.

"Now you may go," he said.

The Count was only too willing, but Lucy and her father could be heard coming nearer. Bewildered, Harry grabbed the Count by the arm and shoved him into the library on the other side from his own room.

"I can't meet them while I am in this condition," he said, looking about the room. "I'm so nervous they'd think I was guilty of something terrible or that I didn't want them here.
If I were guilty I could carry it off easily. Thus does innocence get the hooks!"

And as Lucy and her father came into the room he slipped out the door leading to the back hallway.

Wonderingly, Lucy Medders and her father parted the hangings and entered Harry's den. They gazed about them, at the steins, the boxing gloves, the pipe racks, the pictures and all the other fittings of a bachelor's den.

On the table lay a deck of cards, a half smoked cigar, an opened box of cigarettes, and some scattered red white and blue chips.

"Oh-h!" Lucy gasped. "Isn't it lovely, father?"

"And this?" Mr. Medders said—
"this is Harry's home?"

"It seemeth different from our own home, doth it not?" Lucy asked, shyly.

"Verily, daughter," Medders remarked, coming to a stop before the highly colored picture of the ballet girls, "there be nothing like this at home."

"Why," Lucy said, looking at the picture, "see the ladies in the rainy day skirts!"

"I see the ladies," Medders said, drily, "but where are the skirts? Verily, daughter, they must have feared a flood."

"Perhaps," Lucy offered, seeing that her father viewed the picture with disapproval, "perhaps it is a biblical scene."

"Nay, daughter. If it were, more people would be buying Bibles."

Medders turned from the picture, and his attention was caught by the statuette of the Venus de Milo. He looked at it intently.

"This is a sad sight, daughter," he remarked.

"Because her arms are broken, father?" Lucy asked, innocently, not understanding that her father was expressing a dislike to such works of art.

"Peradventure she broke them off trying to hook her dress in the back," she continued, merrily.

"She hath no dress to hook," Medders said, solemnly. "But, aside from these, the place hath a seemly look."

CHAPTER IV.

From the hallway came gliding in the sorrowful figure of Socrates Primmer. He caught his breath sharply at sight of Lucy, and then advanced, with his hands outstretched.

"Ah, my poor, poor cousin Lucy!"
he wailed.

"Oh, cousin Socrates!" Lucy cried.
"How nice of thee to come."

Medders looked on with kindly amusement. He had long known of Primmer's unrequited attachment for Lucy, and to him it seemed that the best course to pursue was to allow Primmer to weep it out. Primmer looked mournfully at Lucy and said:
"As Riley might have written:

"Now my heart is full of sorrow and my soul would fain repine
For another fellow's courting that old sweetheart of mine."

"But," Lucy smiled, "I am not old, and I am not thy sweetheart, cousin Socrates."

"Verily, Socrates," Medders said,
"thou wouldst make a poor sort of husband, weeping continually about the house. Thou mightst dampen the clothes on ironing day, though."

"Don't mind father, cousin Socrates," Lucy said. "He doth but jest."

"Harry said for me to ask thee to allow me to show thee to thy room," Uncle Medders. Socrates observed, lugubriously, "And his sister will come this moment to greet poor, poor Cousin Lucy."

Primmer led Medders out. Lucy looked about her, wondering, for a moment, but whatever her thoughts may have been, they were ended suddenly when Harry hurried in.

"I'm so sorry not to have met you when you arrived," he said, seizing both her hands, while she drew herself away in shyness.

"I am truly glad to see thee, Harry," she told him. "Thy house is most seemly."

Harry looked quickly at her. There seemed to be an undercurrent of hidden meaning in her words. But a glance at her lovely face, framed in the sunny hair escaping from beneath the simple Quaker bonnet, was enough to convince him that there had been no guile in her remark.

Lucy, in her plain, almost severe, gray dress, with just the touch of white at neck and throat, and the soft gray ribbons tying her bonnet beneath her chin, was a marked contrast to the dashing beauties he knew.
But with all her simplicity of manner she had that indefinable quality called "charm," which may not be acquired through the donning of gaudy raiment and the heightening of the color of the cheeks, nor by any of the extraneous aids to beauty which need not be particularized here. And such charm, also, may not be lost at any moment by the one possessing it. Charm in a woman is like magnetism in a man.
It manifests itself unconsciously and naturally, so that others measure the

There's Not a Store In Town

That Would, In Six Months From Now
Be Half as Important
as it is Now, if it Should Stop Advertising During That Time!

Isn't that perfectly true—perfectly logical?
Can you imagine any store of which it would not be true?

And, if true, does it not follow that the reverse of the proposition is true, too—that the store that doubles its accustomed advertising for the next six months will also double its accustomed store growth for that period?

And does not this, also, apply to any store you can think of in this town?

WITH TRADES DAY

Col. Sidney Suggs, state highway commissioner, returned to the city Monday evening from Ada, where he spoke before a crowd of 5,000 attending the trades rally, on the subject nearest his heart—good roads—and where he witnessed the formation of another good roads association with 100 active enthusiastic workers.

Colonel Suggs is not one who believes that crop conditions in Oklahoma are as bad as they are painted, and he said Monday night: "Why, there is just plenty of new corn in Oklahoma. I saw lots of it along the railroad on the trip in, and some is waist high, other knee high while some is just coming through the ground. And there wasn't anything at Ada to indicate that crops haven't been good. I never saw finer exhibits of all sorts of products, and things don't look like starvation to me. We had a fine rain along the line. The rain began falling while we were at Maud, and it was still raining at Shawnee. Cotton was never in finer shape, and we are going to have a good second crop."—Oklahoman.

On hearing of the killing of Oscar Collins at Roff last evening, Robert Wimbish and Alton Kile, accompanied by their wives, left in an auto for the scene of the tragedy. The party walked about two miles to the home of Mrs. Bobbitt, where the ladies were left, and the men tramped on for another five miles until they reached the home of Wes Httux at Fitzhugh. He drove them to the end of the journey and they returned this morning on the train.

50J C. RS ASPHALT SHIPPED FROM ADA

It is now two years since D. A. Herring began mining and shipping asphalt from the mine west of town. Although he had keen competition and had to find a market for a product that had not been tried in actual paving work, he has shipped 500 cars of forty tons each to Lawton, Dallas, Paris, Sherman and other points.

It costs about 75c per ton to mine the material and 75c to haul it to town and load it on the cars. From this it will be seen that the business has brought a good round sum of money to Ada and is one worthy of attention. It is one of the possibilities of which are practically limitless. The material is here in inexhaustible quantities, and if Mr. Herring can only get equitable freight rates to the cities that will pave during the next few years, a heavy pay roll will be added to the resources of Ada.

Hobart Will Vote Bonds.

Hobart, Ok., July 18.—At an adjourned session of the City council it was decided to call an election to vote $100,000 utility bonds. Fifty thousand dollars will be for a city hall building with an auditorium of 2000 seating capacity. Twenty thousand dollars is to buy eighty acres of land adjoining the city on the north where the fair ground is located for park purposes. The other $30,000 is for the extension of the waterworks system. The Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's League, Hobart Industrial Club and the various lodges are all backing the city council in this move. A resolution was also passed asking the Frisco Railroad to build a new passenger station.

FOR PUBLICITY OF CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Washington, July 17.—The most drastic campaign publicity legislation ever passed in either branch of congress was adopted by the senate late today, practically without a dissenting vote. Using the pre-election publicity bill passed by the house as a basis, the senate constructed during the day a proposed law with the following important features:

No candidate for the senate or house shall spend in the election more than a sum equal to 10c for each voter in his district or state. No senatorial candidate shall spend a total of more than $10,000 in the primary, and general election and no candidate for the house shall spend more than $5,000.

Publicity must be given to all primary campaign contributions and expenses.

General Election Expenses.

All general election expenses must be made public before the election, beginning fifteen days before election and making publication each six days until election.

All promises of political jobs must be made public. The bill further makes it illegal to promise political places to secure election support or to aid in influencing the election of any member of the state legislature.

The bill will be subjected probably to prolonged conference between the two houses. It originated in the house as part of the democratic legislative program and was designated to require publication before election.

To Cover Primaries.

The republicans in the house unsuccessfully attempted to extend the bill to cover primary elections. In the senate today the primary election amendment, coupled with more radical amendments, were adopted with little opposition.

The senate amendments authorized by the committee on privileges and elections required publicity of all primary election expenses and all pledges of political jobs or favors. Some objection to this was made on the ground that primary elections were not within the control of congress. The amendment was finally adopted, however, by a vote of 50 to 7. Senators Bacon, Bailey, Bankhead, Johnston, Bryan, Overman and Taylor voting against it.

The more rigid portion of the bill, limiting the amount of the senatorial and congressional candidate may spend in any election and prohibiting the making of certain campaign pledges was proposed by Senator Reed of Missouri and adopted only after a long debate. Senator Sutherland of Utah admitted that the house conferees might force elimination of this from the bill.

Senatorial Candidates' Expenses.
Senator Reed referred to the campaign expense statement filed by Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, showing expenses of approximately $107,000 and to the other large sums spent by Senatorial candidates. He finally offered an amendment putting the total expenditure by any candidate at a sum to exceed 10c per head for the voters in the candidate's state. Senator Borah said this would permit a senatorial candidate in New York to spend nearly $200,000 in his election, while the candidate in Nevada could spend only about $1,000.

The Reed amendment was defeated once, but was renewed and adopted. At one time he had the limit of expense at $5,000 for a senate candidate and $1,500 for a house candidate, but at the suggestion of Senator Owen of Oklahoma this was increased to $10,000 for the senatorial candidate and $5,000 for the house candidate.

THE DAY IN DISTRICT COURT

The case of Aubrey McCall, charged with the theft of hogs, was called in the district court this morning and was given to the jury about noon. No agreement had been reached when the paper went to press, however.

The case of the state against Fleigg charged with perjury, was dismissed. J. L. Perlette, charged with committing a burglary at Steedman is on trial this afternoon.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which, unfortunately, are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hairs, however, are not always an indication of advancing age, for many people have gray hairs quite early in life. Of course, it is unnatural, and indicates that there is something wrong with the individual, and that Nature needs assistance in correcting the trouble. The same is true of hair that is constantly falling out and becoming thinner every day. If everything is right with Nature, the hair, even in comparatively elderly people, should be long, thick and glossy, without even a streak of gray.

The ideal assistant to Nature in restoring and preserving the hair is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a clean and wholesome dressing for daily use. It not only removes dandruff, but strengthens weak, thin and falling hair, and promotes its growth. A few applications will restore faded or gray hair to its natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

NORMAL WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

HOTLY CONTESTED GAME GIVES VICTORY OVER "RETIRED PROFESSIONALS" 4 TO 2.

What many pronounced the best game of ball ever played on the local diamond was witnessed yesterday afternoon by a crowd estimated at from 2,000 to 2,500. The contestants were the noted Normal and All Professionals from the city. By a score of 4 to 2, however, the Normal team made "Retired Professionals" of their opponents, although it was no easy job. It was during the first and second innings that the only scores were made, the teams after that settling down and playing some real ball.

There was no rag chewing over the decisions of the umpire, such as generally mars a game, and in fact, no rotten decisions were rendered.

The features of the game were the pitching of Asbury, the star twirler for the Professionals and the batting of Kaiser. Asbury struck out 16 men but lack of team work lost the game for the team.

GOSPEL TENT ON NORTH SCHOOL GROUND

Despite the threatening weather last evening a good sized congregation was at the tent on the north school ground where the pastor of the First Christian church is holding services.

The subject for last evening was "The Broken Family Circle." Death may temporarily break the family circle but sin alone can permanently do so. The way to preserve the circle is for the fathers to be right and set the proper examples for the home circle. The mothers must be right also. The praying mother who is guarding sacredly the home ties and leads her children aright, will go far toward preserving the family circle. Then let the children be right. Many a parent has been sent to an early grave on account of a child in sin. What is a parent more proud of than a Godly child who never occasions the parent a soul travail?

Dan was the only child of Jacob missing at the roll call as told by John in Rev. 7:4. He broke the circle. Will you answer with your hand on your heart at the roll call? Don't break the family circle.

The services will begin at 8:15 tonight. Subject: "From Beggar to Riches."

Round Bale Gin Will Enlarge.

At its meeting Monday evening the city council by a unanimous vote granted permission to the round bale gin people to make an addition to their property. To accommodate the heavy cotton business of Ada, the company plans to install a square bale press and do custom ginning as well as buying seed cotton and putting up round bales. Work will begin on the building immediately.

TWO GREAT BABYLONS AND TWO GREAT CAPTIVITIES

Pastor Russell Sees Type and Antitype as Between Babylon of Old and "Mystic Babylon," and Between the Captivity of Fleshly Israel and the Captivity of Spiritual Israel.

Seattle, Wash., July 2.—Bible Students and the public in great numbers heard Pastor Russell here today. We report one of his discourses on the "Two Babylons"—one Literal and the other Mystical. He said in part:—

For centuries Bible Students have observed that many of the strong expressions of the Old Testament respecting Babylon found their parallels in the New Testament, used in respect to Mystic Babylon.

Great Babylon of Old.

Briefly we remind you that ancient Babylon was built on the river Euphrates, that she had impregnable walls, that the river ran through the midst of the city and the great gates of brass spanned the river as a protection against assaults of an enemy from that quarter.

We remind you of the captivity first of the ten tribes of Israel, and later on of the remaining two tribes or kingdom called Judah—Cyrus, the Persian King, gained his victory in a remarkable manner, while the Babylonians, assured of their security, were reveling at a banquet. Cyrus had dugged a canal of considerable depth ready to drain off the water of the river as soon as the necessary connection was made. When the canal water flowed into the new channel, it left the bed of the river under the great brazen gates, on both sides of the city, an open roadway, through which marched the army of Cyrus. Suddenly, at an unexpected moment, the boastful city, the proud Babylon, was captured.

Antitypical or Mystic Babylon.

While speaking directly of Babylon and her fall at the hands of the Medes and Persians under Cyrus, the prophecies speak of the end of this Age and of world-wide calamities incidental to the overthrow of every institution contrary to the Divine will, preparatory to the inauguration of Messiah's Kingdom.

I request that at your convenience you read Isaiah xlii, 1-19, in confirmation of what I have said. I recommend further that you compare Jeremiah l, 15, 29, with Revelation xviii, 6; and the 38th verse with Revelation xvi, 12, and the 46th verse with Revelation xviii, 9. Compare also Jeremiah li, 6-9, with Revelation xviii, 4; and verse 13 with Revelation xvii, 1-15; and verses 37, 63, 64 with Revelation xviii, 2, 4, 21.

As Literal Babylon ruled over the whole world so Mystic Babylon is represented as ruling the civilized world, and hence the entire world. As the lords of Babylon were made drunk by wine which they drank from the golden vessels captured from the temple at Jerusalem, so Mystic Babylon, represented by a woman, is said to make all nations drunk with the wine or doctrine which she gives them out of the golden cup which she holds in her hand. As Literal Babylon fell by the drying up of the waters of the Euphrates, so Revelation tells us that Mystic Babylon sits upon the symbolic Euphrates, and that the way of the kings of the East shall be prepared by the drying up of those waters (Revelation xvi, 12).

Similarly, we are assured, Mystic Babylon's end shall come suddenly, "In one hour." Like a great millstone she shall be cast into the sea to rise no more. Now, the message is, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen (sentenced to destruction). Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues" (Revelation xviii, 2-5).

Where is Mystic Babylon?

No student can examine the records without astonishment and a realization that Mystic Babylon must be some great, influential system of great power in the world during this Gospel Age, and especially at its close. The very prominence given to Babylon, both in prophecy and Revelation, warns God's people that if they have not yet found Babylon they should seek for her. For so great an institution as made all nations drunk with her false doctrine must be considered necessary to those who are under the influence of the stupefying draft from her cup.

Indeed, the intimation is that the whole world will be so intoxicated with the false teaching of Babylon as to be completely under her influence. And when she falls it is particularly explained that all the great, the rich, the mighty, the influential of earth will mourn the catastrophe of her fall. Only the saintly few will recognize its true import and rejoice.

It seems very clear, my dear brethren, that many of us were once part and parcel of this great Babylon—this great system of confusion by which the Divine character has been so traduced through misinterpretations of the Divine Word. I am aware that Catholics declare that Protestants are this Babylon system; and I am aware that Protestants claim that Catholics are this Babylon system. To my understanding of the Divine Word, both are right!

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER, POISON OAK, ETC.

Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Poison Oak, Pimples, etc., show that some unhealthy humor or acid impurity is diseasing the circulation, and that a thorough cleansing of this vital fluid is necessary in order to correct the trouble. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may relieve some of the itching and other discomforts caused by skin diseases, but such treatment has no effect on the blood and therefore cannot do any permanent good. Until the humor is removed from the circulation the cuticle will suffer the effects of an acrid irritation. S.S.S. is the best and quickest remedy because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation, and removes every particle of the humor, whether it be an infection of poisonous plants or from other causes, and makes the blood pure, rich and healthy, allowing it to soothe and nourish the skin instead of irritating and inflaming it with acrid humors. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired sent free. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores.
